HOLIDAY PRESENTS.

FOR SUITABLE HOLIDAY Presents call on

G. W. KITZMEYER,

Who has been gradually adding to his stock of Furniture and Bedding.

So that he can now offer a fine assortment of Good, New, and Late Style of furniture.

A nice lot of

Ladies' & Children's Rockers

Will be offered at specially low prices during the holidays. G. W. intends to stay in the business now, and would respectfully ask a share of the public patronage. Call and examine, and judge for yourselves.

G. W. Kitzmeyer, Brick Store Corner of Carson and Telegraph Streets.

ALL SORTS.

—Senator Hammond is back.
—Col. Ellis and family went below last evening.
—Surveyor General Jones arrived last night.
—Dr. Winnie's team ran away yesterday. Damage slight.
—Judge Denison of Sacramento is among his Carson friends again.
—Room to rent within one block of the Capitol. Inquire at this office.
—John Murdock of Nye is a candidate for Messenger of the Senate.
—The Adam's-Laughton-Gallup case has been trotted into the Supreme Court.
—Mrs. Yerington's lost bracelet was recovered and brought to her by an Indian.
—The Grand Jury of Storey have indicted Frankel and Blauvelt for embezzlement.
—George Weissenbaugh is fast improving in health, and will soon be at the old stand.
—Governor Kinkaid is likely to have his claim of over $50,000 allowed by Congress.
—Judge Adkinson of Virginia is in the city showing his old Republican face on the streets.
—Wren and Powning are in San Francisco trying to get trusted for scenery for the Washoe Minstrels.
—Messrs Smith and Hughes, of Idaho, are in the city on annexation business. They are spying out the country, and appear to like it.

—The Tribune and APPEAL are the only papers published in Carson that are not compelled to double up and publish dead advertisements.—Tribune.

—Of course Parson Newman succeeded in crowding his way to the bedside of Logan where he could pose just at the right moment and have his name telegraphed all over the country.

—Some comment has been occasioned by the fact that the American flag did not appear at half mast over the Armory building, immediately after the news of Logan's death. The cause of it was that the halyards were out of order and would not work.

—The untidy, dirty appearance of a grizzly beard should never be allowed. Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers will readily change their color to a brown or black, at discretion, and thus keep up your reputation for neatness and good looks.

—"Words fail to express my gratitude," says Mr. Selby Carter of Nashville, Tenn. "for the benefits derived from Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Having been afflicted all my life with scrofula, my system seemed saturated with it. It came out in blotches, ulcers, and matter sores all over my body." Mr. Carter states that he was entirely cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and since discounting its use eight months ago, has had no return of the scrofulous systems.

The Homographic Chart.

Two years ago the APPEAL published a Homographic Chart for the Legislative session of Nevada, and it was pronounced the best ever printed in the State. Instead of being printed on a piece of paper the size of a fire screen, it was neatly bound, with a cover and four pages, and printed in a compact form for ready reference. This year the APPEAL is preparing a still better one, and most of the work has been done in order to have it ready for delivery early in the session.

AN INDIAN SCHOOL.

Another Interesting Question for Nevada.

The following article is from the Reno Gazette.

At the last session of the Legislature, a joint resolution which was introduced in the Assembly by D. Allen, was passed requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to secure an appropriation for the erection of a school building and a further appropriation for the conducting of a literary and industrial school for the education of the Indian youth of this State, which, with one or two exceptions, exceed in number, those of any other State or Territory. Since the passage of the resolution, our State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Professor Young, has taken great interest in the matter. He has written to and interviewed the Commissioners of Indian Affairs many times, and has pressed the subject on the attention of a number of the leading Congressmen, and the mission has met with reasonably fair encouragement.

In answer to a recent letter written to J. D. C. Adkins, the Commissioner, Professor Young received the following reply:

"If your State should provide suitable buildings and sufficient land for a good industrial farm, it is believed that the necessary outfit would be provided and the school thereafter be supported by the Government."

Now it behooves the State to make some provisions in the shape of suitable building and land for an industrial school for her Indian children. There are now in Nevada between six and seven hundred, at least, of these native sons between the ages of six and eighteen years, who are the wards of the general Government and should be educated by it.

In view of the fact that there is a strong sentiment in favor of dividing the several reservations, and giving to each Indian his share in severalty, the question of providing the younger class with a practical industrial education, is a material one. While there is no hope of elevating the older class, the educational work at the Pyramid reservation, and at the various institutions of learning for Indians throughout the country, demonstrates the fact that much can be done for the young. Should the Legislature fail to take some aggressive steps in the matter of providing for buildings and lands, which is all that is asked by the Government to educate the race that is fast becoming extinct, it will be direct in a most important duty.

The Dead Medicine.

The United States Express Company taking warning from the late robbery from an Adams Company's car has placed on its cars some new fire and burglar-proof safes, which are bolted to the car. The express messengers do not carry the keys or have the combination to these safes and they cannot be opened by them or any one else on the train. They are only opened at leading stations by the station agent, who gets on the train for that purpose, and locks them again safely before the train leaves the station. By this arrangement all collusion between dishonest messengers and express robbers is prevented, and the safes cannot be forced open without consuming longer time than would be necessary to successfully carry out the deed.

Business Message

Mr. Blaine sent the following telegram to Mrs. Logan:
AUGUSTA (Me.), December 26
To Mrs. General Logan: The startling news of your husband's death has just reached us. Never until this morning did we receive an intimation that he was in danger. I dare hardly to speak of my personal sorrow in view of your own inexpressible grief, and the general loss to the country which in peace and war, General Logan has served with commanding ability and courage. Mrs. Blaine joins me in the deepest sympathy with you and your children. James G. Blaine.

For Chief Clerk.

R. L. Thomas is a candidate for Chief Clerk of the Assembly. Mr. Thomas is from Washoe county, but he stood square for the ticket, and wheeled Franktown into line with the biggest Republican vote ever polled there.

"KELLY THE FIDDLER."

Everybody will regret to learn of the death of John Kelly, otherwise known all over the Coast as, "Kelly the Fiddler." He was master of all the magic trickery known to the bow and catgut. He could make his instrument bray like a mule, wail like the night wind, squall like a cat, weep, sob, laugh, and get drunk. He did not know a note of music nor did he need to. He simply heard a tune once and it was his forever. His music was not exactly classical, no not exactly. He played in the early days of '49 in a San Francisco gambling hell and got $50 a night, on extra occasions $100. Sometimes he would get capious and refuse to play a note for less than $100 in advance. The proprietors always cheerfully complied, for the place would be no place at all without Kelly's music.

But the high wages did not effect the house. It went from the safe to Kelly, from Kelly over the green table into the fare drawer and back again to the safe. He told the writer that he worked two years at never less than $50 a night and owed the bar $36 when he quit.

If all the people who have danced to the "hilarious music of Kelly's fiddle had taken the steps straight ahead, the steps all combined would reach the furthest star in the constellation of Pleiades. But poor Kelly has passed away as all fiddlers have to sometime, and you may be sure that when he gets his golden harp, it will not take him long to get the hang of it.

The Lying Gang Again.

The tricksters who are still hard at work trying to manufacture public opinion against Stewart, recently published in the Washington Post, an article in which Woodburn is reported as saying no end of mean things against Stewart and representing that the Republican feeling here is all against him.

This was at once recognized by all who knew Mr. Woodburn, as a piece of trickery in keeping with the well known tactics of the gang of liars who have now about reached the end of their tether. Mr. S. C. Wright of this city wrote to Mr. Woodburn about the matter and received the following reply:

"I am not surprised at the contents of your letter after reading the clippings from the Post. I can positively assure you that no such interview ever occurred, and I am not acquainted with any attaché of that newspaper. The correspondent of the New York Tribune was the only newspaper man who ever asked my opinion as to who would be the next Nevada Senator, and I informed him that I believed Stewart would be elected. I have so said to every member of Congress.

The San Francisco Strike.

When the gripmen on the street car lines struck for higher wages, they made a good showing of their grievances and enlisted the sympathy of the public. When they attempted to over-ride the law and indulged in riot and disorder, they forfeited, not only the sympathy, but the respect of the public.

When masked men attack cars, insult and abuse women and children and place explosives on the track, they are merely cowardly outlaws who deserve nothing but the State Prison. Such attempts against life and property do not advance the cause of labor, but simply create a public prejudice against the cause for which these men are striving, which can only prove disastrous to it. The labor organizations should see that their good name is preserved, by assisting the authorities to bring these scallawags to justice and by protecting the cars from such lawless mobs.

The Campaign Count.

The APPEAL office was recently visited by a man who wanted to know why the final, tabulated, election count was not published in its columns with an appropriate two-line pica head. The APPEAL is of the opinion that this "official count" of the election is getting to be rather chestnutty in flavor. All the papers have published it half a dozen times, every man, woman and child in the State knows just who was elected and who was not. There will be no more election returns published in this paper for about two years.
